

Israel Blocks U.N. Takeover Of Highway

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Israel is refusing to turn over to the U.N. peacekeeping force full control of the highway to the town of Suez and the Egyptian 3rd Army across the Suez Canal until Egypt fixes a prisoner of war exchange, a high-ranking Israeli official reported today.

The official said Finnish U.N. soldiers set up a roadblock on the Cairo-Suez highway outside Suez Monday evening, but Israeli soldiers tore it down, and "fisticuffs took place."

"It was not very serious," he reported. Then Israeli officers allowed the Finns to set up a checkpoint on the western outskirts of Suez, the source continued, but the Israelis maintained a checkpoint of their own nearby.

The official said Israeli and U.N. troops also were maintaining separate checkpoints at Kilometer 101, where the highway crosses the cease-fire line, despite a report Monday by the Israeli state radio that Israel had turned its checkpoint over to the U.N. force.

The cease-fire agreement negotiated by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger last week provided for both the prisoner exchange and U.N. control of the highway through the Israeli lines to Suez, giving Egypt access to the town and its isolated troops.

"According to the agreement signed Sunday," the Israeli official said, "the United Nations is to replace the Israeli checkpoints as soon as it is established that prisoners of war are to be exchanged. There is not yet an agreement on the prisoners so we could not agree to replacing the checkpoints."

Meanwhile, Kissinger said in Peking that the Nixon Administration is considering a formal guarantee of Israel's security if the Jewish nation agrees to a peace treaty calling for its withdrawal from occupied Arab territory. He emphasized, however, that a U.S.-Israeli treaty was only one of several forms of guarantee under consideration.

U.N. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim sent his undersecretary for special political affairs, Roberto E. Guyer of Argentina, to Egypt, Syria and Israel. A U.N. spokesman said he would provide Waldheim "a first-hand assessment" of the situation, but other diplomats at U.N. headquarters said he might try to arrange for exchanges of prisoners of war.

Kissinger mentioned the possibility of a formal guarantee for Israel in a television interview Monday with ABC, CBS and NBC during a break in his talks with Chinese leaders in Peking.

Kissinger said support of Israel's existence has been "a constant American policy" and Sen. J. W. Fulbright's proposal for an Israeli-American security treaty is only one of the ideas under consideration.

The secretary explained that if peace negotiations between Israel and the Arabs succeed, "there will be a very serious problem, especially for Israel, of how its security can be assured" because of the withdrawals it will have to make from the territories it has occupied in the last two Arab-Israeli wars.

"At this point the question of guarantees will arise, and we have to then ask the question what sort of guarantees — unilateral, several countries and so forth," Kissinger said.

Earlier Monday, Egyptian and Israeli officers held a cordial three-hour meeting at the Israeli checkpoint on the ceasefire line 63 miles east of Cairo to discuss ways of implementing the new cease-fire agreement. U.N. and Israeli officials said there was some movement toward an exchange of prisoners.

The chief Israeli and Egyptian representatives, Maj. Gen. Aharon Yariv and Maj. Gen. Mohammed Gamazy, broke away from the meeting for a 30-minute private talk. A U.N. spokesman said they would meet again on Wednesday.

After the meeting, Israeli forces turned the checkpoint over to U.N.

troops from Sweden and Austria as the first step toward establishing a corridor for the Egyptians to supply the town of Suez and the Egyptian 3rd Army on the east bank of the Suez Canal.

Preparations were reported in Elat, Israel's southern port, to sail ships south through the Red Sea to test the Egyptian blockade of the Bab el-Mandeb Strait, at the entrance to the Indian Ocean. Removal of the blockade was one of Israel's conditions for accepting the new cease-fire agreement Kissinger negotiated last week, but Egypt has never admitted publicly that it agreed to this.

In Washington, senior State Department officials said they hope a formal peace conference between Egypt and Israel will open Dec. 9, and that Geneva is the most likely site.

Congress Speeds Action On Energy Conservation Bills

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bills authorizing imposition of emergency fuel saving measures and construction of the Alaska pipeline head the legislative calendar in what Sen. Henry M. Jackson has dubbed "energy week in Congress."

The emergency petroleum act directing President Nixon to ration scarce fuels, including gasoline and home heating oil, was approved by the Senate Interior Committee Monday and is expected to reach the floor on Wednesday.

The Alaska pipeline bill is expected to gain easy Senate passage today. The bill, approved by the House Monday, would allow construction of the 800-mile pipeline from Alaska's North Slope to a port in the south.

A Senate-House conference report that would result in the mandatory allocation of all fuel, from crude oil to gasoline, is expected to pass both houses some time this week.

Harsha Seeks Halt Of Fuel Oil Exports

Congressman William H. Harsha, Ohio Sixth Congressional District, today urged President Nixon to halt United States oil exports to Europe immediately during the energy crisis and demanded the names of companies involved be made public.

Harsha requested this action following the disclosure by the cost of living council that U.S. oil exports to Europe tripled this year and that prices of these products jumped 143 per cent.

Some 53.3 million gallons of fuel is being exported from the United States during 1973. Referring to government regulations protecting confidentiality of firms involved in such transactions Harsha pointed out: "The names of these companies should be divulged particularly if they are the same ones who are crying they don't have enough fuel to meet their domestic demands and are urging the American public to grin and bear the energy shortage."

"That oil companies should continue to reap the profits from exporting precious fuel oil products when the rest of the country is asked to tighten its energy belt during a national emergency flies in the face of all reason," Harsha declared.

"American's have been asked to make all sorts of sacrifices from lowering thermostats to driving at lower speeds to paying higher prices for fuel and facing the real threat of gas rationing," he stated. "The 53.3 million gallons of fuel oil exported this year will not put an end to our own fuel shortages but it certainly would help to keep businesses and farms operating and schools from closing."

Red Cross Needs Blood

Of the 350 pints of blood that will be needed for patients in 50 Central Ohio hospitals on one day, 135 must be collected at the Pickaway County Red Cross bloodmobile visit at Community United Methodist Church, Main and Pickaway Streets from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday.

According to Phil Pfleeger, Chapter Chairman, each "open" place on the bloodmobile schedule represents one pint of blood that will not be available for a patient, and detracts from the total life-giving effort of Pickaway County.

Pfleeger also pointed out that blood is one unique gift that the giver can be certain will be passed on to an individual who needs it. "People are the only source for human blood; there is no substitute. And people who really need blood are the only recipients. For example, accident victims receive transfusions immediately because their neighbors have shared their blood in advance."

For maximum blood collection capacity, donors are asked to schedule appointments in advance, and may do so by calling 474-5736.

Nixon May Meet Watergate Panel

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Watergate committee today called for a meeting with President Nixon at his earliest convenience to question him on Watergate matters.

Sources said the vote in executive session was 5-to-1 in favor of a resolution introduced by Sen. Lowell P. Weicker Jr., R-Conn., to formally request the meeting and ask the President to make available all tape recordings and documents relevant to the panel's investigation.

Sen. Edward J. Gurney, R-Fla., cast the only vote against the resolution, and Sen. Herman Talmadge, D-Ga., was absent, the sources said.

Presidential Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Monday that Nixon is considering a committee proposal for a face-to-face meeting as part of a renewed White House effort to clear up the scandal.

It was understood that Sen. Howard H. Baker Jr., R-Tenn., committee vice-chairman, and Weicker would refuse presidential invitations to question Nixon at White House meetings being held for Republican senators and congressmen and some Democrats this week.

Weicker had suggested that committee members not participate in the closed-door sessions unless the President agreed to meet with the full committee.

Weicker's resolution called for a committee meeting "to be held at the President's earliest convenience, at the White House, with statements or answers to questions not having to be under oath, with counsel for both the President and the select (Watergate) committee participating, and with a complete transcript of such discussion, which entire transcript will be made immediately public."

An aide to another committee member said Weicker wrote a letter urging colleagues to adopt a position that no member of the Watergate panel should visit the President unless Nixon agrees to meet with the full committee.

Chairman Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., was also reported by a staff member to be unsatisfied with the President's announced plan to call in all Republican senators and representatives and some Democrats to give them his side of the Watergate controversy.

But meanwhile, Vice Chairman Howard H. Baker Jr., R-Tenn., and Sen. Edward J. Gurney, R-Fla., received invitations to the first of the White House receptions scheduled for late today. Gurney's spokesman said the senator planned to attend; Baker's spokesman said late Monday the vice chairman had not yet replied to the invitation.

A press aide for Weicker, the only other GOP member of the committee, said the senator would not comment on the White House meetings until after the committee's executive session.

Ever since former White House counsel John W. Dean III's testimony before the committee last summer implicating the President and his top aides in the Watergate cover-up, the committee leaders have sought to obtain Nixon's version of the events.

Nixon refused to meet with the committee then, but there has been no formal response to the panel's latest invitation.

Lawyers for the committee met with White House counsel last week to discuss the possibility of a meeting, but neither side would say what the result of that meeting was. The committee reportedly would be willing to meet with the President at the White House and question him without asking that he be sworn in, but with the agreement that a record of the meeting be released.

President Pushes Innocence Drive

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon is pressing his Watergate offensive by meeting privately with congressmen and disclosing plans to turn over to a federal judge presidential tape recordings and files.

At the same time, officials say White House lawyers are gathering material to answer "case by case, head to head" other non-Watergate allegations against Nixon and his administration. These range from Nixon's personal finances to the handling of campaign contributions.

Nixon opened his campaign Monday, saying it would "clear up . . . once and for all" questions about the controversial Watergate tapes.

Developments concerning subpoenaed White House tape recordings came both from federal court and Nixon Monday, on a day in which he held the first of a series of meetings scheduled with all Republican members of Congress and some Democratic leaders.

Nixon held two sessions Monday — a breakfast with the Republican Coordinating Committee and an evening meeting with five conservative southern Democrats and an independent. Another evening meeting was arranged for today, for Republican House members.

Nixon also announced Monday he would produce subpoenaed tape recordings as well as subpoenaed portions of his personal diary. He said this was an attempt to dispel doubts about "just what happened" to a pair of unrecorded Watergate conversations.

At the same time he said he could not locate a dictation machine recording of an April 15 meeting with former White House counsel John W. Dean III. A tape recording of the meeting has been subpoenaed but the White House says that recording is one of two subpoenaed but never made.

In federal court, U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica set Nov. 20 as the date by which Nixon's lawyers must deliver the subpoenaed and volunteered White House tapes and other materials. Sirica also told lawyers to be ready to take steps to empanel a group of experts to report on questions "relating to any evidence of tampering or alteration of the White House tapes.

Nixon has agreed that outside experts should examine the tapes for evidence of alteration.

He also said that in lieu of the dictation machine recording he would give to the court "my original handwritten notes" made April 15 during the meeting with Dean.

Dean has told the Senate Watergate committee that Nixon during the meeting admitted discussing executive clemency as part of the Watergate cover-up.

The non-Watergate related matters that Nixon said he would confront included the ITT antitrust settlement, campaign contributions by milk producers and Nixon's personal financial dealings.

In other Watergate developments Monday:

—A House Judiciary subcommittee approved a bill calling for appointment of a special Watergate prosecutor by the federal court. Nixon has replaced the fired Archibald Cox with Texas lawyer Leon Jaworski.

—Vice President-designate Gerald Ford said in a New York speech that Nixon is innocent of wrongdoing in Watergate and will prove his innocence. He said Nixon will not resign.

—Also in New York, Cox told the New York City Bar Association he was denied files on a campaign contribution from the milk industry. He also said Nixon told him "Keep the hell out of that," while Cox was investigating the break-in at the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist.

—In Los Angeles, a lawyer for Egil Krogh Jr., the man who headed the White House "plumbers" said Krogh wants access to files he kept at the White House even if he has to subpoena Nixon to get them. Krogh is charged in the Ellsberg break-in.

Community Fund Drive Extended Until Nov. 30

According to Robert Ogden, Community Fund drive chairman, in an effort to try and reach the $86,350 goal of the Pickaway County Community Fund Campaign, the committee decided at its Nov. 7 meeting to continue the campaign until Nov. 30.

He said, an additional $8,000 is required to provide needed funds for the ten agencies that the fund supports for the year 1974.

Volunteers of the four door-to-door divisions are making additional solicitations during the month of November. City and County citizens are encouraged to respond generously to help support the following Community Service Organizations: Red Cross, YMCA, Salvation Army, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Senior Citizens, Family Planning, Well Child Clinic, Pre-Natal Clinic and the Mental Health Association.

In addition to city and county door to door efforts, activity is continuing in the Business Division, the Special Groups Division and in a new area affecting county residents who work outside the county, he said.

Friends of the fund who have not already given or pledged and who are working in Government agencies, industry or businesses, are asked to give through either payroll deduction quarterly billing, cash, or check, and to advise their employers of their support.

Friends of the fund who are not normally contacted through above mentioned divisions are asked to respond to door to door volunteers or by mailing their check or pledge to Pickaway County Community Fund, Post Office Box 55, Circleville, 43113.

The Pickaway County Community Fund will hold a regular quarterly meeting Nov. 20 at the American Red Cross Chapter House. Meeting time is 8 p.m. The trustees are expected and the public is welcome.

Waiting in the wings are bills that would provide year-round daylight saving time, waive clean air guidelines to permit the burning of dirtier fuels and authorize $20 billion for the long-range development of new energy sources.

The House Commerce Committee scheduled hearings for today on a return to daylight saving time while its Senate counterpart considers a similar proposal in closed session.

Jackson said his Interior Committee hoped to take up the multibillion dollar energy research and development bill in the afternoon.

Also under consideration but less likely to be enacted before the winter recess are measures approved Monday by the House interior subcommittee on the environment that would regulate the surface mining of coal and license deep water ports to accommodate supertankers.

In the Senate, an Interior subcommittee scheduled hearings on a bill that would authorize a federal takeover of off-shore wells in California's Santa Barbara Channel, where drilling has been suspended since a massive oil spill in 1969.

Administrator Russell Train of the Environmental Protection Agency gave his support to a proposal authorizing temporary suspension of clean air standards for individual power plants and factories.

Meanwhile, an executive of an American firm handling oil in Saudi Arabia, was quoted as saying the effect of the Arab oil boycott will be felt within weeks. M.M. Arneen, vice president of Aramco, was quoted as having told the House Republican Task Force on Energy that the effect of the boycott cannot be avoided.

Of all the measures triggered by the President's televised address last week, the one with the most immediate impact on people's lives would be the emergency petroleum act authorized by Jackson.

In addition to rationing, the bill would authorize the President to order such energy-saving steps as lower speed limits and shorter school hours in an effort to reduce by 25 per cent the nation's current consumption of roughly 18 million barrels of oil a day.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices continued to move lower today, extending the losses of the last two sessions, which analysts said had resulted from energy fears.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, down more than 34 points in Friday and Monday trading, was off 10.53 at 887.12 at noon.

Declining issues led advances more than 2 to 1 on the New York Stock Exchange. Trading was active, and the ticker tape lagged behind several times during the morning.

The Big Board's composite index of some 1,500 common stocks gave up .27 to 55.69 at noon.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index dropped .53 at 102.61 at noon.

"There's a feeling that we're getting past the hysteria, but the energy shortage is still a cloud over the market," said Charles M. Lewis of Winkler, Cantor, Pomboy & Co.

Analysts noted that the market looked better across the board today than it had in the last two sessions and that there was some buying in certain depressed glammers.

Commissioners Study Sanitary Sewer Report

Pickaway County Commissioners Monday received a report from the Pickaway County Planning Commission recommending a county-wide sanitary sewer district.

The report suggested that major watersheds be designated as sub-districts and that existing districts be classified as service areas.

The study recommended a single sewer fund be established, a qualified person be employed to manage the operation of the district, a study be made of the financial capacity of each existing district, that commissioners wait until ordered by the Ohio Environmental Protection Agency before updating existing plants and that discussion be held with villages in the county for including them in the sewer district.

According to the study, there are already areas of high population density in need of sewer systems.

The advantages of the county wide system would be more efficient management; would provide for county-wide rules and regulations and would make the county eligible for EPA grants for construction.

Areas in need of sanitary sewer systems are: New Holland, Williamsport, Ringgold, Derby, Hargus Lake, Circleville-Tarilton Road near Logan Elm School; Washington Meadows Subdivision, Dunkel Road, Orient, South Bloomfield, Darbyville, Tarilton and Commercial Point.

Commissioners Wayne Hines, Dick T. Tootle and L. Robert Liston agreed

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices continued to move lower today, extending the losses of the last two sessions, which analysts said had resulted from energy fears.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, down more than 34 points in Friday and Monday trading, was off 10.53 at 887.12 at noon.

Declining issues led advances more than 2 to 1 on the New York Stock Exchange. Trading was active, and the ticker tape lagged behind several times during the morning.

The Big Board's composite index of some 1,500 common stocks gave up .27 to 55.69 at noon.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index dropped .53 at 102.61 at noon.

"There's a feeling that we're getting past the hysteria, but the energy shortage is still a cloud over the market," said Charles M. Lewis of Winkler, Cantor, Pomboy & Co.

Analysts noted that the market looked better across the board today than it had in the last two sessions and that there was some buying in certain depressed glamuours.

Israeli Generals In Verbal Battle

TEL AVIV (AP) — The guns are silent along the Suez Canal and the Golan Heights, but Israel's army is convulsed by an overdose of political recriminations brought on by the initial setbacks of the October war.

Until the war, army censorship did not allow any newspaper to quote a soldier — general as well as corporal — on his political views. But this policy has faltered in the welter of accusations over who was to blame for the surprise achieved by the Egyptian and Syrian attack and the Arabs' initial success.

The battle of words could affect the outcome of the national elections at the end of December.

The key figures in the battle of words have been Maj. Gen. Ariel Sharon, who led the daring Israeli thrust across the Suez Canal to encircle the Egyptian 3rd Army; Lt. Gen. Haim Bar-Lev, the assistant chief of staff who gave his name to the canal defense line that the Egyptians overran, and the chief of staff, Lt. Gen. David Elazar, who has been trying to hold the line for Premier Golda Meir's government.

Sharon, in peacetime is a right-wing politician, and his exploit on the battlefield indicated he might take some votes away from Mrs. Meir's socialist Labor party in the election. Then he told an American newsman his superiors had not sent adequate reinforcements to bolster the spearhead he put across the canal.

Elazar angrily retorted: "It may be less glamorous to fight to hold a bridgehead than to drive your tanks into Africa."

Bar-Lev, a cabinet minister and supporter of Mrs. Meir who was returned to uniform for the war, was the next to join the fray. Possibly nettled by the comparison between the Bar-Lev Line and World War II, he wrote in a local newspaper that the army was totally unready for the war and that there was insufficient armor and artillery behind the canal line.

This was considered an oblique attack on Defense Minister Moshe Dayan, whose political views Bar-Lev is known to oppose, as well as a defense of the Bar-Lev Line.

Lakewood Safest City In Nation?

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Lakewood Police Chief Charles Petro says it took teamwork to bring the suburb a top rating as perhaps the safest city in the nation.

And Petro includes on the "team" a cooperative citizenry as well as a "good, hard working department."

Lakewood was at the top, and another Cleveland suburb, Euclid, was sixth on the safest cities list put out by David Franke, author of "Safe Places." Franke prepared the list on the basis of crime statistics fed into a computer. The results were released Monday by Esquire magazine.

"We have the type of citizen who helps the police...who is not prone to crime," Petro said.

The chief said the police auxiliary also helped curb crime.

While agreeing that "we have a safe place to live...and a good, hard-working department," Petro said Franke's list may not be quite up to date.

"I believe he was using 1971 statistics," Petro said, adding that the 1972 figures might show that Euclid had edged ahead of Lakewood.

However, he said he appreciates "the fact that people say we're No. 1."

Lakewood and Euclid both are on the Lake Erie shore and both have populations of about 66,000, Lakewood extending west of Cleveland and Euclid to the east.

The lead city sandwiched in between placed 351st on Franke's list.

Timken Elected To GOP Committee

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—W. R. Timken Jr. of Canton was elected Monday chairman of the Ohio Republican Finance Committee.

The vice chairman of the board of the Timken Co. will head GOP fund-raising efforts in Ohio in 1974 and 1975.

Timken replaces T. Spencer Shore of Cincinnati, who had been fund raising chairman since March 1971.

New U.S.-China Developments Seen

TOKYO (AP) — Judging from opening statements on both sides, some important new development in Chinese-American relations can be expected from U.S. Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's visit to Peking.

Foreign Minister Chi Peng-fei in a toast at the banquet he gave Saturday night said Kissinger was in Peking for the sixth time "to exchange views with us on the normalization of Sino-American relations and issues of common interest."

Kissinger in reply noted his last visit in February 1972, when President Nixon and Premier Chou En-lai agreed to set up liaison offices in Peking and Washington. He added: "We are determined to do much more and to complete the process that we started two years ago as rapidly as possible."

That "much more" could include an announcement that the two governments have resolved the question of Chinese financial assets frozen in the United States and claims for American property taken over by the Communists and that they have agreed to establish reciprocal trade missions. This would give the growing U.S.-China trade a shot in the arm. But it would not put the two countries much closer to diplomatic recognition, the goal Kissinger obviously referred to.

Withdrawal of some or all of the 9,000 U.S. troops on Taiwan could be another by-product of Kissinger's visit. The United States has promised to pull 3,000 out, and the communists Nixon and Chou signed in 1972 said all of them would be removed when the situation warranted.

This is one of the major steps the Chinese regard as a preliminary to an exchange of ambassadors. The other, more important one is for the United States to break diplomatic relations with President Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist government on Taiwan.

The Nationalists continue to invoke the long years of American friendship and support for Chiang. But privately they see the handwriting on the wall. Their newspapers are preparing the public for a final break.

A rupture in the formal ties between Washington and Taipei would not mean an end to trade and other exchanges between the two. Other nations that have taken the same route have markedly increased their trade with Taiwan. Since Japan broke relations with the Nationalist government last year, some 400,000 Japanese have visited Taiwan.

Food Tops Exports

Food self-sufficiency still eludes the Soviet Union, though it has announced a 215-million-ton grain harvest, a record. The Soviets will be purchasing 7 million tons of grain from the United States this fiscal year, only about 40 per cent of last year's huge 18-million-ton purchases but still a sizable volume by any standards.

This year's purchases will not be at the bargain rates the Soviets received last year, a fact which emphasizes the need. Though nearly half the Soviet work force is employed on its farms, and repeated attempts have been made to improve an inefficient system of production, Soviet agriculture remains sluggish by Western standards.

In contrast is the U. S. output. Although it has caused some domestic strain, American food exports are expected to total $20 billion in the current fiscal year. This compares with shipments of $12.9 billion last year and $8.1 billion the year before that.

American agriculture thus is on a par with Middle East oil in world demand. It is a strong position to be in at a time of world food shortages. Not only is the American farm more than ever the provider for the world's dining table, but it has become the single factor responsible for turning the nation's international accounts from a serious deficit to a growing surplus.

Senator Edward Brooke, the Times, Time, George Meany, Joseph Alsop and sundry others, including editors of undergraduate Ivy League dailies, have called on President Nixon to resign—for the good of the country. Should he?

The only reasonable answer has to be (a) certainly not now, unless (b) he himself knows that he is guilty of some serious crime which in due course will be revealed. If the latter happens to be true, he had better go quietly, for his departure would be inevitable anyway.

But unless the latter is in fact the case, he should not allow himself to be driven from office by the current clamor. The myriad allegations against him, examined one at a time, scarcely add up to impeachment and conviction. If they comprise the case against him, he will find himself battling a paper hydra.

There is now circulating in the House Judiciary Committee a sort of bill of particulars containing 22 charges against Nixon. It is a very mixed affair, and largely flimsy, containing: 1) old political chestnuts, 2) trivia, and 3) serious charges on which no proof has yet been forthcoming.

Under old chestnuts we have things like the Cambodia bombing and the impoundment of Congressionally authorized funds. These items must be there to fatten up the list. Everyone knows that in both we are dealing with a constitutionally gray area regarding which experts differ.

Under trivia, I would include, for example, "Approved a 1970 internal security plan that involved violations of the law." Every Congressman knows that the security agencies had long employed the recommended techniques, and had done so with the approval of the Executive branch, both Democratic and Republican. Citing the circumstances of 1970, Nixon could easily justify approval on national security grounds. He would win on this one if it came to a vote in the House.

Other charges are serious in nature, but terribly difficult to pin down: "Offered a bribe to Judge Byrne." It would be impossible to demonstrate that John Ehrlichman's two meetings with Byrne constituted a "bribe." Even more dubious is the charge of "tax evasion." There may be some technical irregularities in the deduction claimed for Nixon's Vice Presidential papers, but his tax returns are made out by experts and criminal culpability is most unlikely.

Much more serious, yet also so far unproved, are a set of earthier and Agnewesque charges: 1) Accepted a bribe in return for quashing the ITT prosecution; 2) Accepted a bribe in connection with the milk deal; 3) Accepted a bribe in connection with the Vesco case; and 4) Concealed cash emoluments.

Those are serious, specific. If any one of them can be demonstrated,

Nixon ought to get out.

But if he is innocent, it would be a catastrophic disservice to the nation for him to resign, to allow himself to be forced from office by mere publicity. A published charge is not a proven one. Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — Near the top of the list in the bad news department is the nation's lagging productivity, or the time and cost involved in producing goods and services.

When the productivity rate declines, or rises more slowly than usual, it means that upward pressure is exerted on prices. And as everyone knows, the country has had enough of that.

In the year's third quarter, the productivity increase amounted to only 1.7 per cent, compared with a long-term average of about 2.7 per cent for the private, nonfarm economy.

Stated in another way, unit labor costs are rising. That is, it costs more to produce goods today than it did yesterday. So far this year, in fact, the increase has been 5.9 per cent, double last year's rate.

If improvement doesn't develop soon, the consequences could be a continuation, and conceivably a worsening, of inflation.

At this time of year many Americans sit down with paper and pencil to figure out the tab — that for Christmas gifts and that for Uncle Sam. In each case the payment can be delayed, but not the pain.

The pain of paying taxes is usually considered the more intense, especially by those who feel their burden is outrageous. Any attempt to convince them otherwise is a formidable challenge.

However, a set of figures just released by the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development constitutes a challenge to the popular notion. Only seven of the 22 OECD countries, the figures show, have lower tax rates.

Including Social Security or its equivalent, the U.S. total tax revenue as a percentage of Gross National Product was only 27.77 per cent in 1971, compared with 43.99 per cent in Denmark, the most heavily taxed country.

The tab was only slightly lower in The Netherlands, at 42.20 per cent, in Sweden at 41.8, and in Norway at 41.53 per cent. Austria, the United Kingdom, France, Belgium, Finland, Germany

The time has come—indeed we are overdue—for a serious point-by-point investigation by the House of the charges against Nixon. Due process will be observed, and the result ought to be a clarification.

Mr. President: If you are innocent, stay and fight. If you are guilty, go — and ask forgiveness.

and Luxembourg ranged between 34 and 37 per cent.

Canada's bite was 32.26 per cent, Ireland's 31.54 and Italy's 30.92.

Only Australia, Greece, Switzerland, Turkey, Portugal, Japan and Spain reported rates lower than the United States. The latter two had percentages of 20.06 and 20.02, respectively.

Social Service Programs Funded 6 More Weeks

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Thirteen social service programs, scheduled to be phased out, received an additional six weeks funding Monday by the state Controlling Board.

Charles W. Bates, director of the Ohio Department of Public Welfare, said the money would permit state agencies to "efficiently restructure their operations and phase out the programs" by Dec. 30.

The funds included $19,812 in state day care monies and $654,518 in federal monies, Bates said.

The agencies involved included the Buckeye Hills Hocking Valley Regional Development Commission; Clermont Mental Health Center; East Cleveland Board of Education; Ohio Valley Regional Development Commission and Sinclair Community College.

HILLSBORO, Ohio (AP) — The operator of a small hardware-meat shop was shot to death during a robbery Monday at nearby Bridges, according to the Highland County sheriff's office.

The victim was identified as Joseph Barrett, 76. Police said it was not known how much money was taken.

The sheriff's office said a suspect was in custody. No other details were available.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

My 18-year-old daughter is embarrassed by the enormous size of her breasts.

She has begun to inquire about plastic surgery. How safe is the operation?

Mrs. G.B., Ga.

Dear Mrs. B.:

The reduction of the size of the breasts is really not considered to be totally in the province of plastic surgery. Many general surgeons, specially trained in the techniques of breast surgery, perform this type of operation. The operation is completely safe and does not, by its nature, carry any special risks.

The embarrassment that pendulous breasts so often cause teenagers and young adults can create psychological scars that cannot be casually overlooked. Many young women withdraw from school functions and social activities because of their constant awareness of the conspicuous size of their breasts.

There are many techniques by which the breasts can be surgically made smaller. The choice of the operation, of course, depends entirely on the surgeon.

The scars that are left are often barely perceptible. The concern that most mothers and daughters feel is about the possible effect of such an operation on child-bearing and breast-feeding. Your doctor will give you the added assurance that surgery does not affect these functions.

Your daughter will benefit markedly, both in her physical appearance and from the psychological advantages that accrue.

If you are giving serious thought to the operation, don't waste too much time. The delay simply reinforces the emotional burden your daughter is carrying.

Are there any medicines that can be put on the fingernails of children who bite their nails?

Mrs. W.W., Mich.

Dear Mrs. W.:

Yes, there are bad-tasting medicines that are applied to the nails of children by parents who have no real understanding of the problem. It is exceedingly unwise to use this method of breaking children of the habit of nail-biting.

Psychologists and pediatricians believe that this habit reflects inner tensions and anxieties. It may be the result of jealousy, sibling rivalry (competition with a sister or brother) or too rigid standards of behavior.

The real cause of the nail-biting must be determined and removed. The only thing worse than the use of bad-tasting medicine is to shame the child and embarrass him in an effort to cure him.

Understanding, patience, and help, not punishment, are the best treatments for nail-biting.

Speaking of your health . . . Rectal thermometers can break. Be sure that the child or infant is not left alone while the temperature is being taken.

Re-Election Committee Exists With Skeleton Staff

Otherwise, the walls are bare, the mood subdued in the small downtown office where President Nixon's campaign headquarters once occupied two entire floors.

Fewer than a dozen people now work there once there were hundreds.

They are employees or volunteers for the Finance Committee to Re-elect the President, the organization that raised a record $60 million-plus for Nixon's campaign.

The finance committee's only tasks now are to keep track of $4 million in leftover campaign funds and to answer an endless stream of subpoenas and queries that have turned the second most triumphant reelection campaign in American history into the most investigated.

The Committee for the Re-election of the President, the political organization that had over-all charge of last year's campaign, already has closed its doors, a former chairman under indictment and his top aide awaiting sentence on criminal charges.

Without any public notice the committee gave up its office space and transferred its records to the finance committee on Oct. 31 — Halloween.

Devan L. Shumway, the committee's official spokesman who, in June, 1972, relayed to the nation his superiors denial of Watergate involvement, was the last employee to leave.

Shumway, a former newsman who told friends he was "going off to think things over for awhile," could not be reached for comment.

Kenneth Parkinson, an attorney who represents the re-election apparatus, said the re-election committee will continue to exist on paper pending settlement of various legal actions against it.

But, he said, all its records and books were transferred to the finance committee, which still is headed by former Secretary of Commerce Maurice H. Stans.

Parkinson said Stans, who has declined interview requests, puts in a full business day at committee

headquarters when he is in Washington. Stans, however, is fighting federal criminal charges in New York in connection with a $200,000 campaign contribution from financier Robert L. Vesco.

High Court Nixes Death Penalty Case

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today rejected a plea for new, more definite guidelines on the constitutional use of the death penalty.

The justices declined to hear an appeal brought by a Utica, N.Y., prosecutor who said his case "presents the very heart of the capital punishment debate" that followed the court's treatment of the issue last year.

The court did not flatly outlaw the death penalty last year — only two justices reached that position.

But three others objected to the procedures by which the death penalty is imposed, leaving doubt as to what, if anything, a majority might accept as constitutional use of capital punishment.

The state court indicated that only a mandatory death penalty for the murder of a policeman would limit the discretion of juries and judges sufficiently to meet Supreme Court objections to the infrequent, apparently arbitrary application of capital punishment nationwide.

"A 'mandatory' death penalty is by no means a constitutional panacea," argued Utica Dist. Atty. Richard D. Enders.

Enders urged the Supreme Court to approve New York's statute which makes murder of a policeman or correctional officer a capital crime, and establishes guides and procedures for jury deliberation on the penalty.

Food Tops Exports

Food self-sufficiency still eludes the Soviet Union, though it has announced a 215-million-ton grain harvest, a record. The Soviets will be purchasing 7 million tons of grain from the United States this fiscal year, only about 40 per cent of last year's huge 18-million-ton purchases but still a sizable volume by any standards.

This year's purchases will not be at the bargain rates the Soviets received last year, a fact which emphasizes the need. Though nearly half the Soviet work force is employed on its farms, and repeated attempts have been made to improve an inefficient system of production, Soviet agriculture remains sluggish by Western standards.

In contrast is the U. S. output. Although it has caused some domestic strain, American food exports are expected to total $20 billion in the current fiscal year. This compares with shipments of $12.9 billion last

American agriculture thus is on a par with Middle East oil in world demand. It is a strong position to be in at a time of world food shortages. Without any public notice the committee gave up its office space and transferred its records to the finance committee on Oct. 31 — Halloween.

Devan L. Shumway, the committee's official spokesman who, in June, 1972, relayed to the nation his superiors' denial of Watergate involvement, was the last employee to leave.

Shumway, a former newsman who told friends he was "going off to think things over for awhile," could not be reached for comment.

Kenneth Parkinson, an attorney who represents the re-election apparatus, said the re-election committee will continue to exist on paper pending settlement of various legal actions against it.

But, he said, all its records and books were transferred to the finance committee, which still is headed by former Secretary of Commerce Maurice H. Stans.

Parkinson said Stans, who has declined interview requests, puts in a full business day at committee

headquarters when he is in Washington. Stans, however, is fighting federal criminal charges in New York in connection with a $200,000 campaign contribution from financier Robert L. Vesco.

High Court Nixes Death Penalty Case

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today rejected a plea for new, more definite guidelines on the constitutional use of the death penalty.

The justices declined to hear an appeal brought by a Utica, N.Y., prosecutor who said his case "presents the very heart of the capital punishment debate" that followed the court's treatment of the issue last year.

The court did not flatly outlaw the death penalty last year — only two justices reached that position.

But three others objected to the procedures by which the death penalty is imposed, leaving doubt as to what, if anything, a majority might accept as constitutional use of capital punishment.

The appeal rejected today stemmed from a ruling in New York vacating the death penalty imposed against Martin J. Fitzpatrick for the murder of two policemen. The New York court left Fitzpatrick's conviction intact.

The state court indicated that only a mandatory death penalty for the murder of a policeman would limit the discretion of juries and judges sufficiently to meet Supreme Court objections to the infrequent, apparently arbitrary application of capital punishment nationwide.

"A 'mandatory' death penalty is by no means a constitutional panacea," argued Utica Dist. Atty. Richard D. Enders.

Enders urged the Supreme Court to approve New York's statute which makes murder of a policeman or correctional officer a capital crime, and establishes guides and procedures for jury deliberation on the penalty.

Nixon Donations Bring Court Fines

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gulf Oil Corp. today pleaded guilty to making illegal contributions from corporate funds to President Nixon's 1972 campaign and the unsuccessful presidential campaigns of two Democratic congressmen.

One of Gulf's vice presidents, Claude C. Wild Jr., also pleaded guilty to a formal charge of consenting to the illegal Nixon donation of $100,000. The other illegal contributions were $15,000 to the campaign of Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, and $10,000 to the campaign of Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash.

U.S. District Court Judge George L. Hart Jr. levied on Gulf the maximum fine of $5,000 and fined Wild the maximum $1,000 for an individual. But he imposed no jail term. Wild could have received on year in prison.

Meanwhile, an American Ship Building Co. employee told the Senate Watergate committee that his superiors instructed him to make contributions to the Nixon re-election campaign with a company bonus and to lie about it when questioned by the FBI.

Matthew E. Clark Jr., purchasing director of the company's Amship's division in Loraine, Ohio, testified that he was given a $5,000 bonus by company secretary Robert E. Bartlome on April 6, 1972 and told to make out a $3,000 check and a $100 check to subsidiaries of the Committee for the Re-election of the President.

The remainder of the bonus, after payroll deductions, was to be given in cash to other political campaigns, Clark said.

He said he was told that the contributions had to be made on April 6 because a new federal campaign spending disclosure law would go into effect the next day.

Clark said he was informed later by company chairman George M. Steinbrenner III that FBI agents wanted to interview him and that he should speak first with chief counsel John H. Melcher.

Clark said Melcher told him to tell the FBI that the political contributions he made were voluntary and were made from his personal funds and after an agreement to do so between Clark and his wife.

Clark then gave a statement to the FBI saying he had discussed the campaign with fellow employees and made the contribution because he believed President Nixon had helped the shipping industry.

Clark, who receives a salary of $16,300 a year, told the committee his statement to the FBI was false and a year later he signed a certificate given him by Bartlome which also was false. He certified, Clark said, that he never had been asked by a supervisor or a director of the company to make political contributions.

In federal court on Monday, another corporation, Braniff Airways Inc. and its chairman, Harding L. Lawrence, pleaded guilty to donating $40,000 illegally to Nixon's campaign. Hart fined the corporation $5,000 and Lawrence $1,000, but imposed no prison sentence on Lawrence.

More Air Shuttle Service Needed?

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohioans need more air shuttle service to fill the gaps in commercial runs to the state's smaller communities, an official of the Ohio Department of Transportation says.

John Cornett of the Division of Aviation says he foresees the day when fleets of small twin-engine planes will provide the necessary link between the smaller communities and the major airports around the state.

Cornett said, "The twin-engine planes carrying 40 to 50 people would pick up passengers at the smaller airports and ferry them to a major airport for connection with a large commercial airline."

The need for this kind of service is increasing, he said.

"The large airlines have provided excellent service over the years, but costs have risen to the point that they cannot afford the financial burden of the shorter runs," he said. "They have been relying on the long hauls instead."

And he said, "The larger airlines cannot go into the smaller airports with the 727s and 747s. But these airports can take the smaller twin-engine planes used in shuttle service."

He said Ohio's system of seven major airports, 84 county fields and 65 private operations makes more air shuttle service a real possibility.

"Ohio has more good airports per square mile than any other state in the union," Cornett said. "We have an average of one airport within every 25-mile radius."

The major airports are in Cleveland,

Toledo, Akron-Canton, Youngstown, Columbus, Dayton and the Cincinnati area. The other airports have at least 3,500 feet of paved runway. The only counties without public airports are Lawrence, Hocking, Paulding and Washington.

Cornett said the state's goal could be reached. "We want to see every Ohioan have air service available in the least amount of time. We want everybody to be able to use aviation," he said.

But he said there are problems ahead.

Man Burned By Blacks

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — A white man and his black wife were abducted by 11 black men and taken to an apartment where the husband was doused with an inflammable fluid and set afire, police said today.

The husband is hospitalized in serious condition.

Police said Brian Barfield, 33, of Fort Lauderdale, and his wife, Geraldine, 26, were driving along a city street Sunday evening when a car pulled alongside and a man pointed a gun at them, forcing them to stop.

Another car pulled up behind the Barfields and the couple was blindfolded before being driven to an apartment, police said.

According to Mrs. Barfield's account, her husband was bound with electrical cord, doused with an unidentified liquid and set ablaze. His wife was held captive but unharmed, police said.

OHIO WEATHER SUMMARY

A clearing trend with southwesterly winds is expected to allow temperatures to climb into the 60s in Ohio Tuesday afternoon, but some showers will develop along and ahead of an oncoming cold front which will move across the state Wednesday.

The morning weather map showed high pressure centered over the North Carolina coast. It is beginning to settle slowly southward. A low pressure system and associated cold front was entering the western parts of the Dakotas and Nebraska. This cold front will move rapidly eastward and reach the western Great Lakes area Wednesday morning.

Temperatures early Tuesday were in the low 50s in the southeast and parts of eastern Ohio and in the 40s over the rest of the state.

And he said, "The larger airlines cannot go into the smaller airports with the 727s and 747s. But these airports can take the smaller twin-engine planes used in shuttle service."

The Teays Valley B team is also 1-0. They opposed Hamilton Township and won in a close match 3-2. The winners were Paul Pennington, Wendell Presler, and Mark Wilson. The next round of play will be on Nov. 15 at Madison Plains.

Teacher Enjoys Students

MRS. MORGAN

By PENNY SHIELDS

Mrs. Morgan, a new teacher at Teays Valley High School, teaches sophomore and junior English. She lives at Route 2, Circleville, with her husband Jack, son Jack and daughter Michele.

Her favorite activities are cooking, knitting, and reading. "I don't enjoy just one, but I enjoy them all," says Mrs. Morgan.

She has taught at Westfall High School and Miami Trace High School. She said "Basically, Teays Valley is similar to the other schools since the communities are the same."

Mrs. Morgan says that she wants to teach because she likes to work with young people, and she feels this is one of the best ways to do so. She says that she likes to teach English because she has always enjoyed the subject.

Mrs. Morgan says, "If I were asked which subject I would rather teach, I would like to be a school librarian, because I enjoy working with the students in this situation."

"The kinds of things my students respond to are the subjects which concern them and national and world problems," says Mrs. Morgan. She tells us how she feels about Teays Valley, "I enjoy teaching at T.V. For the most part, the students are all around good people, and I think we will have a good year."

Debbie Biller Plays In Columbus Orchestra

By ROBERTA LALIK

Debbie Biller was selected as a member to the Columbus Youth Wind Ensemble and South Central Regional Orchestra.

The Columbus Youth Wind Ensemble is made up of 48 juniors and seniors selected by auditions and they meet at Capital University every Tuesday night. They are directed by Richard J. Suddendorf. Rehearsals run through the entire school year. Their first concert was at the C.O.T.A. Convention on Oct. 26, after only three rehearsals.

The South Central Regional Orchestra is one of five regional orchestras in the state. Members are selected on their merit and application. They met at Upper Arlington High School on Nov. 3, and held a free concert on Nov. 4 after one rehearsal. They auditioned for seating which is also the audition for the All State Orchestra.

Deb intends to go to college and major in music, mostly because she loves to play. However, she intends to teach. She feels that "the great variety of musical instruments is all a challenge."

Deb plays bassoon and says, "It is not an instrument to be made fun of."

The German name "fagotto" means "a bundle of sticks." Although the bassoon has picked up other names such as baboon, bedpost, and many others, it has no more than any other instrument.

DEBBIE BILLER

It has an exceptionally wide range and a unique sound which is used as background music in cartoons, commercials—such as Campbell's cream of shrimp—and is used in orchestra music to unite the woodwinds and the brass.

Deb states, "I didn't choose the bassoon. I was one of those lucky enough to be selected to play it." She started on flute and played it for four years. She then started on bassoon and has been playing it for 3½ years. Two years ago she picked up alto sax, mostly to be in stage band. Deb says, "I enjoy the contrast between the beautiful passages of "Moon River" and the jazzy bars of "Peppermint Twist."

Girl's Sports Branch Out To Volleyball

By RON CATRON

For the first time in the history of Teays Valley High School there is a girl's volleyball team. In previous school years the girls have competed in several fields of sports such as basketball, football, and track. The girls decided to broaden their fields of sports starting with this school year and include volleyball. The team plays in the Metro-League.

Mrs. Angie Rhinehart, physical education teacher at Teays Valley, coaches the team and has this to say about the team, "All the girls show teamwork and unselfishness in their willingness to help each other."

Julie Papst, a team member, says she feels that students of the school should attend more of the games to help boost the team's spirit.

So far this year the team has a 0-6 win-loss record, but all the team members feel that next year with some experience behind them they will do much better.

Teacher Enjoys Students

MRS. MORGAN

By PENNY SHIELDS

Mrs. Morgan, a new teacher at Teays Valley High School, teaches sophomore and junior English. She lives at Route 2, Circleville, with her husband Jack, son Jack and daughter Michele.

Her favorite activities are cooking, knitting, and reading. "I don't enjoy just one, but I enjoy them all," says Mrs. Morgan.

She has taught at Westfall High School and Miami Trace High School. She said "Basically, Teays Valley is similar to the other schools since the communities are the same."

Mrs. Morgan says that she wants to teach because she likes to work with young people, and she feels this is one of the best ways to do so. She says that she likes to teach English because she has always enjoyed the subject.

Mrs. Morgan says, "If I were asked which subject I would rather teach, I would like to be a school librarian, because I enjoy working with the students in this situation."

"The kinds of things my students respond to are the subjects which concern them and national and world problems," says Mrs. Morgan. She tells us how she feels about Teays Valley, "I enjoy teaching at T.V. For the most part, the students are all around good people, and I think we will have a good year."

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Impossible To Swallow

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have socialized with the same group of married couples for about 30 years. Recently one of the women called to invite my daughter, son in law, and me to a supper at her home. She made it a point NOT to mention my husband, so I mentioned him. She said, "Well, maybe Louis had better not come because a few of the women have told me that it spoils their appetites to watch him eat." (My husband has Parkinson's disease and he shakes a lot, but I always help him when he eats.)

I told this woman that since she is the hostess she can invite anyone she wants to her home, and then I asked her which women she had reference to.

Of course she wouldn't tell me, so I stayed home, and so did my daughter and son-in-law.

I have decided to wash my hands of that whole group. Do you think I am wrong?

MRS. L.S.

DEAR MRS. S.: I'd have washed my hands of the hostess, but until I learned who (if any others) shared her views, I wouldn't have written off the entire group.

DEAR ABBY: My mother in law and I have never gotten along. There have been bitter feelings between us for as long as I can remember. We are now at the point where we don't see each other at all. My husband goes along with this arrangement because he also has been hurt by her.

My problem, or our problem: How do I explain to my children that they never see their grandmother because three adults can't sit down and work out their problems, and no one wants to make the first move?

PARTLY GUILTY

DEAR PARTLY: It would be far less easier for YOU to make the first move than try to explain it to your children. Your signature as well as your obvious desire to solve the problem shows you to be an intelligent and reasonable woman. Life is short. Make it sweet.

DEAR ABBY: Will you please print an open letter to some friends of ours? I'm sure it could apply to many of your readers:

DEAR BOB AND RUTH: (not your real names.)

I write this out of concern for your health and my own. You impressed us as being fun-loving, intelligent people who would not intentionally hurt anybody. But you were both apparently unaware that your smoke was extremely irritating to me. I am allergic to tobacco smoke. This morning I have a raw throat and irritated sinuses, which will take several days to clear up.

If you had asked politely: "Does anybody mind if we smoke?" I would have said: "Yes, I am sorry, but I'm allergic to tobacco smoke. Thank you for asking."

But you gave me no such opportunity. So I had only three choices: To leave, to stay and suffer (which I did), or to make an issue of it by pointing out your thoughtlessness in the presence of others.

I did not want to embarrass you-or the Smiths, since it was their party, so I suffered silently and hoped you would eventually notice that I was trying desperately to wave away the smoke and escape its poisonous effects.

Perhaps the next time you are with nonsmokers-whether they call attention to their discomfort or not-you will be more considerate.

Please believe me when I say that my husband and I found you a delightful couple with whom we would be happy to share a smokeless evening.

K.J.G.

DEAR K.J.G.: If those are your real initials, you've sent up some effective smoke signals.

9 GOP Presidential Hopefuls Set Back

WASHINGTON (AP) — The unpredictability of premature presidential politics is being demonstrated in the difficulties of three 1976 Republican hopefuls, Ronald Reagan, Nelson Rockefeller and John Connally.

All three have been running into trouble this fall in the opening moves of what they hope will be successful White House bids in 1976.

Reagan and Rockefeller encountered significant setbacks in last week's off-year election, while Connally's star dimmed amid last month's GOP outcry at the possibility he might become vice president.

Reagan had campaigned hard for his constitutional amendment that would limit future state taxes and spending. He planned to make it a major plank in his expected presidential bid.

But the proposal was rejected decisively Tuesday, by more than 300,000 votes. The complex issue was seen by many as a referendum on Reagan himself.

The 62-year-old governor was undeterred, however, declaring he might use the issue "to reveal to people how difficult it is to halt the growth of government, the entrenched position that the government establishment has."

And the resignation of Spiro T. Agnew has left Reagan, according to polls, the top choice of GOP conservatives.

Rockefeller, meanwhile, suffered an array of setbacks around New York state. His home county of Westchester, for the first time in history, elected a Democratic county executive.

Other suburban and most upstate areas also showed some decline in traditional Republican strength, while the GOP virtually was wiped out in New York City.

A $3.5-billion transportation bond issue, for which he had campaigned,

—$99,000 for the Welfare Department to continue contracts for technical assistance in bringing federal Medicaid payments up to date.

—$14.6 million for sewage treatment facilities for the City of Lima on behalf of the Ohio Water Development Authority.

—$80,000 for the adjutant general's office to purchase Trumbull County property for the new Youngstown-Warren Ohio National Guard Armory.

—$1,059,000 for the Highway Safety Department and the Ohio Historical Society to implement 1973 pay raises voted by the legislature.

Kansas City Chiefs Defeat Bears, 19-7

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The so-called "tired old men" of the Kansas City Chiefs aren't so tired and old after all.

The Chicago Bears will vouch for that.

The Chiefs, with their entire offensive line intact for the first time this National Football League season, ground out 327 yards Monday night and their fired-up defense limited Chicago to 146 yards in a 19-7 victory over the Bears.

Kansas City's success in the nationally televised battle lifted the Chiefs into a tie with Oakland in the American Conference West Division with a 5-3-1 record and buried Chicago, 3-6, deeper in the National Conference Central Division cellar.

"First place?" echoed Chiefs' Coach Hank Stram. "That's what it's all about. It was a fantastic effort. Mike Livingston rose to the occasion again and did a terrific job. They were great kicks by Jan Stenerud, and the defense played another tough, well-coordinated game."

Livingston, replacing the injured Len Dawson for the second straight week, hit on 11 of 22 passes for 146

yards, including a 24-yard touchdown strike to Otis Taylor in the third quarter.

Stenerud chipped in with field goals of 47, 17, 43 and 42 yards, all in the first half, to give the Chiefs, who have won two in a row, a 12-0 advantage.

The Chiefs' defense dumped quarterback Bobby Douglass six times for losses totaling 64 yards. Three of the sacks were by Marvin Upshaw, who ganged up with Curly Culp to help make the night miserable for Douglass.

Douglass had two moments of success although one was short lived. He rambled 50 yards to the goal in the second quarter when the score was 6-0 but offsetting penalties nullified the run.

Trailing 19-0, Douglass guided the Bears on a five-play, 70-yard touchdown drive that ended with Carl Garrett sweeping wide to the left for the final nine yards.

In 1955, Whitey Ford of the Yankees pitched five shutouts. Two of them were one-hitters in succession and two were two-hit games.

TOP CATS—Steve Watters, left, and Eddy Richter, right, were named most valuable players at the Circleville Athletic Booster Club fall sports banquet Monday night at the high school. Steve was a member of the cross country team and Eddy performed on the gridiron for the Tigers.

Kansas City Chiefs Defeat Bears, 19-7

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The so-called "tired old men" of the Kansas City Chiefs aren't so tired and old after all. The Chicago Bears will vouch for that.

The Chiefs, with their entire offensive line intact for the first time this National Football League season, ground out 327 yards Monday night and their fired-up defense limited Chicago to 146 yards in a 19-7 victory over the Bears.

Kansas City's success in the nationally televised battle lifted the Chiefs into a tie with Oakland in the American Conference West Division with a 5-3-1 record and buried Chicago, 3-6, deeper in the National Conference Central Division cellar.

"First place?" echoed Chiefs' Coach Hank Stram. "That's what it's all about. It was a fantastic effort. Mike Livingston rose to the occasion again and did a terrific job. They were great kicks by Jan Stenerud, and the defense played another tough, well-coordinated game."

Livingston, replacing the injured Len Dawson for the second straight week, hit on 11 of 22 passes for 146

yards, including a 24-yard touchdown strike to Otis Taylor in the third quarter.

Stenerud chipped in with field goals of 47, 17, 43 and 42 yards, all in the first half, to give the Chiefs, who have won two in a row, a 12-0 advantage.

The Chiefs' defense dumped quarterback Bobby Douglass six times for losses totaling 64 yards. Three of the sacks were by Marvin Upshaw, who ganged up with Curly Culp to help make the night miserable for Douglass.

Douglass had two moments of success although one was short lived. He rambled 50 yards to the goal in the second quarter when the score was 6-0 but offsetting penalties nullified the run.

Trailing 19-0, Douglass guided the Bears on a five-play, 70-yard touchdown drive that ended with Carl Garrett sweeping wide to the left for the final nine yards.

In 1955, Whitey Ford of the Yankees pitched five shutouts. Two of them were one-hitters in succession and two were two-hit games.

WCH Wins Final Grid Poll

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The coaches of two Associated Press state poll champions see no extra pressure for their teams in the Ohio high school football playoffs.

"It gives us our kids something to be proud about," said Joe Novak of Class AAA titleholder Warren Western Reserve.

"I don't feel we have any extra burden. It's a tremendous feeling," added J. D. Graham, who coaches Class A champion Newark Catholic.

Maurice Pfeifer, the coach of Class AA king Washington Court House, said his school's first AP title removed the sting of missing the playoffs.

"It's more than on paper to us. We're walking on eggs," said Pfeifer. "We're disappointed at not making the playoffs. That reflects our

Bengals Fear Namath Comeback

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Bengals, fearing another Joe Namath comeback, are working to get as many veterans as possible back into the lineup for the game here Sunday with the New York Jets.

"I remember the last time we played them," said Coach Paul Brown, "two years ago in New York, the last game of the season."

"We were the team that Joe 'came back, against that time too, and they beat us."

"Our job this week," said trainer Marv Pollins, "is to get some people back ready to play."

The list includes rookie tight end Al Chandler, veteran receiver Chip Myers and safety Tommy Casanova.

Brown said he was breathing hard until the Bengals were able to pull out last Sunday's victory over the Buffalo Bills 16-13 with a last second field goal by Horst Muhlmann.

"I can't tell you how many close ones like this we've lost," since formation of the franchise in 1968," he said.

Specialists Aid Bucks

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Ohio State leads the nation in fewest points permitted, has an offense averaging 417 yards and Woody Hayes talks about his Buckeye specialists.

"Our kicking game is ahead of other teams because it's a veteran one," the veteran Ohio State mentor told writers Monday during his weekly press conference.

"The thing we have to worry about is complacency," Hayes added. "And one advantage our team has is its mean, old coach."

The unbeaten Buckeyes, sharing the Big Ten lead with Michigan, have returned 40 punts for 558 yards. The opposition has 10 returns for just 21 yards.

"Neal Colzie had almost nine times as many punt return yards in one game as our opponents have all season," said Hayes.

Colzie, a junior defensive back from Coral Gables, Fla., piled up 170 yards with eight punt returns during a 35-0 rout of Michigan State Saturday. One went for a 43-yard touchdown, his fourth of the season.

scheduling."

Western Reserve, now in its eighth season of football, won the state playoffs and finished second behind Massillon in the Class AAA ratings last fall.

The Raiders carry a 27-game winning streak into their state semifinal game with No. 5 Bowling Green at Akron Friday night.

Western Reserve finished with a 260-216 vote margin over runnerup Cincinnati Moeller in the balloting by a statewide panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

Moeller, 10-0-0 like Western Reserve and Bowling Green, faces No. 3 Youngstown Mooney, 9-1-0, in its semifinal test at Cincinnati Friday night.

With ten straight triumphs, Washington Court House finished with its greatest record ever and owned a 212-181 margin over No. 2 Cincinnati Reading in Class AA.

Reading, meanwhile, puts its 10-0-0 record on the line against third-ranked Ironton and No. 6 Cleveland Benedictine faces No. 15 Lima Catholic in the Class AA semifinals.

Newark Catholic, 9-0-0, draws No. 13 Montpelier and No. 7 Middletown Fenwick plays No. 10 Ashtabula St. John in the Class A semifinals.

Newark Catholic collected 230 points to finish 72 points in front of runnerup Ada among the small school powers.

Washington Court House succeeds Columbus Watterson as the Class AA state poll champion. Newark Catholic takes over for Marion Pleasant, which had won the last two Class A crowns.

Columbus, Ohio (AP) — Here's how a statewide panel of sports writers and broadcasters rates Ohio high school football teams for The Associated Press (10 points for first to 1 point for tenth):

World Open Golf Match Proves Flop

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP) — There is every indication that this may be the first and last World Open Golf Tournament.

"We have a two-year contract," said Bill Maurer, president of the sponsoring corporation, "but we have an understanding that we can be excused next year if we want to."

He didn't say specifically, but there were hints that he might exercise that option.

The world's richest tournament, offering $500,000 in total prizes with a record $100,000 to the winner, has been a financial flop in the first half of its inaugural two-week run.

It has been one of the poorest-attended tournaments on the pro tour this year. Attendance figures have not been announced, but the galleries numbered only a few hundred — if that — daily.

There are three principal reasons:

- The absence of some of the game's top gate attractions — Jack Nicklaus, Tom Weiskopf, Lee Trevino, U.S. Open champion Johnny Miller;
- A cold front that sent temperatures plummeting into the 20s; and
- The relative inaccessibility of the Pinehurst Country Club in central North Carolina, well removed from any population center.

"YOUR GAS RANGE HELPS YOU CONSERVE ENERGY AND SAVE MONEY.

"Conservation is important today, as the nation faces an energy crisis. Help fight waste of our vital resources right in your own kitchen by using these gas-saving cooking tips . . . and save money, too. I encourage you to start now to do your share."

Betty Newton

When cooking vegetables, use as little water as possible and cover the pan to speed cooking.

While you can use almost any type pan or pot on a gas range, those with flat, smooth bottoms cook faster with less chance of burning the food inside.

Pre-heat your oven only when it's necessary. And when you do, five or ten minutes is all it takes. Setting the temperature higher than you want won't pre-heat the oven any faster.

Opening the oven door loses heat and wastes gas and money. Make good use of your timer or oven window to avoid opening the oven door too frequently.

New Gas Range

If you're thinking of replacing your old gas range now, remember that you needn't worry about your home gas supply. A new, modern gas range helps conserve gas because it's more efficient. It offers automatic controls, better insulation and other gas-saving features.

Western Reserve, now in its eighth season of football, won the state playoffs and finished second behind Massillon in the Class AAA ratings last fall.

The Raiders carry a 27-game winning streak into their state semifinal game with No. 5 Bowling Green at Akron Friday night.

Western Reserve finished with a 260-216 vote margin over runnerup Cincinnati Moeller in the balloting by a statewide panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

Moeller, 10-0-0 like Western Reserve and Bowling Green, faces No. 3 Youngstown Mooney, 9-1-0, in its semifinal test at Cincinnati Friday night.

With ten straight triumphs, Washington Court House finished with its greatest record ever and owned a 212-181 margin over No. 2 Cincinnati Reading in Class AA.

Reading, meanwhile, puts its 10-0-0 record on the line against third-ranked Ironton and No. 6 Cleveland Benedictine faces No. 15 Lima Catholic in the Class AA semifinals.

Newark Catholic, 9-0-0, draws No. 13 Montpelier and No. 7 Middletown Fenwick plays No. 10 Ashtabula St. John in the Class A semifinals.

Newark Catholic collected 230 points to finish 72 points in front of runnerup Ada among the small school powers.

Washington Court House succeeds Columbus Watterson as the Class AA state poll champion. Newark Catholic takes over for Marion Pleasant, which had won the last two Class A crowns.

Columbus, Ohio (AP) — Here's how a statewide panel of sports writers and broadcasters rates Ohio high school football teams for The Associated Press (10 points for first to 1 point for tenth):

World Open Golf Match Proves Flop

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP) — There is every indication that this may be the first and last World Open Golf Tournament.

"We have a two-year contract," said Bill Maurer, president of the sponsoring corporation, "but we have an understanding that we can be excused next year if we want to."

He didn't say specifically, but there were hints that he might exercise that option.

The world's richest tournament, offering $500,000 in total prizes with a record $100,000 to the winner, has been a financial flop in the first half of its inaugural two-week run.

It has been one of the poorest-attended tournaments on the pro tour this year. Attendance figures have not been announced, but the galleries numbered only a few hundred — if that — daily.

There are three principal reasons:

—The absence of some of the game's top gate attractions — Jack Nicklaus, Tom Weiskopf, Lee Trevino, U.S. Open champion Johnny Miller;

—A cold front that sent temperatures plummeting into the 20s; and

—The relative inaccessibility of the Pinehurst Country Club in central North Carolina, well removed from any population center.

"YOUR GAS RANGE HELPS YOU CONSERVE ENERGY AND SAVE MONEY.

"Conservation is important today, as the nation faces an energy crisis. Help fight waste of our vital resources right in your own kitchen by using these gas-saving cooking tips . . . and save money, too. I encourage you to start now to do your share."

Betty Newton

The instant-on, instant-off control of your gas range means less wasted heat before and after cooking, and just naturally saves gas and money. Cooking seldom requires a high flame for very long. Use a low one when it will do just as well.

Fiesta Bowl Bid Goes To Pittsburgh

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Fiesta Bowl officials have decided to invite Pittsburgh to be the visiting team in the Dec. 21 contest, according to published reports.

The Orlando, Fla., Sentinel said in Tuesday editions the Fiesta Bowl chose Pittsburgh after learning that Tulane and Houston apparently are committed to another postseason bowl.

When cooking vegetables, use as little water as possible and cover the pan to speed cooking.

While you can use almost any type pan or pot on a gas range, those with flat, smooth bottoms cook faster with less chance of burning the food inside.

Pre-heat your oven only when it's necessary. And when you do, five or ten minutes is all it takes. Setting the temperature higher than you want won't pre-heat the oven any faster.

Good maintenance, including periodic cleaning, assures more economical and efficient operation. Proper adjustment of burners to a blue flame is an important maintenance check. Clean burner ports is another. Your gas range manual has complete instructions.

New Gas Range

If you're thinking of replacing your old gas range now, remember that you needn't worry about your home gas supply. A new, modern gas range helps conserve gas because it's more efficient. It offers automatic controls, better insulation and other gas-saving features.

1. Card of Thanks

I wish to express my gratitude and thanks to the clergy, and to all of my many friends for their cards, flowers, gifts, visits and services rendered during my recent stay at Riverside Hospital in Columbus. The many many cards, flowers and gifts sent to me were certainly appreciated, and the visits to the hospital by my many friends certainly made my period of hospitalization more endurable. And, a special thanks goes to those people who rendered assistance and help to my wife while I was away from home. Jim Shea

Witches' Wedding Success

LODI, Ohio (AP) — It was a devilish undertaking, but the wedding came off on schedule — bonfire and all.

And the bride-to-be, 40-year-old Betty Haase, said there wasn't as much significance to the witches' wedding as met the eye. "It runs in the family," she said, dismissing her supernatural powers. "But you better go easy on that," she cautioned. "Some of the family frowns on it."

While guests huddled around a bonfire later, she and her groom, Dennis Skitzki, were married. The ceremony was performed by a Unitarian minister, the Rev. David H. Cole.

"For some reason, Unitarian ministers are the only ones who don't mind," Mrs. Skitzki said, puzzled. "After all, we believe in God and everything, or at least in a supreme being."

The main difference between witches and other people has more to do with believing in reincarnation and the ability to "see" things than anything else, she said.

Mrs. Skitzki said her first husband was a warlock — the male counterpart of a witch. Skitzki, on the other hand, is only an automobile mechanic.

But "he's very sexy," Mrs. Skitzki confided.

The bride made shirts for the groom and the minister to wear. And she wore a dress of her own making — green wool, with lace embroidery. "No, there's no significance in that either," she said. "I just wanted to dress up."

After the ceremony, the Skitzkis and their guests gathered around a huge whiskey crock.

"There's no significance at all in that, unless you don't like whiskey sours," she told a reporter covering the event.

"And tell your photographer we won't put a curse on him when he gets here, and he can have all the whiskey sours he wants."

Welfare Districts

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Welfare Director Charles Bates said Monday night that his agency will be ready to reorganize into 11 districts by next July 1.

Bates told the opening session of the Ohio Welfare Conference here that the department will have guidelines for its reorganization ready by spring.

The Welfare Department and three other state agencies are to reorganize into 11 service districts by mid-1974 under a plan announced earlier by Gov. John Gilligan.

Cleveland, which has the highest welfare case load in the state, will probably be divided in half, Bates said.

Other departments involved in the reorganization plan are the Department of Mental Health and Retardation, the Department of Health, and the Rehabilitation Services Commission.

Northwest Takes Brunt Of Weather

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Strong winds and thunder-showers fanned out over the northwestern quarter of the nation today while most other areas enjoyed Indian summer.

Winds gusting over 50 miles per hour whipped Utah, Wyoming and northern Colorado, and high-wind warnings were issued for northern Colorado and the western half of South Dakota for today.

Showers dampened areas from the Pacific Coast to the northern Plains, but rainfall amounts generally were less than half an inch overnight.

Gale warnings were posted along the northern Pacific Coast as a new storm system approached.

A cold front moving through Wyoming and Colorado dropped temperatures into the 30s and 40s from the 50s.

Overnight lows in the 40s and 50s were common across a broad stretch of

1. Card of Thanks

I wish to express my gratitude and thanks to the clergy and to all of my many friends for their cards, flowers, gifts, visits and services rendered during my recent stay at Riverside Hospital in Columbus. The many many cards, flowers and gifts sent to me were certainly appreciated, and the visits to the hospital by my many friends certainly made my period of hospitalization more endurable. And, a special thanks goes to those people who rendered assistance and help to my wife while I was away from home.

Witches' Wedding Success

LODI, Ohio (AP) — It was a devilish undertaking, but the wedding came off on schedule
— bonfire and all.
And the bride-to-be, 40-year-old Betty Haase, said there wasn't as much significance to the witches' wedding as met the eye.
"It runs in the family," she said, dismissing her supernatural powers. "But you better go easy on that," she cautioned. "Some of the family frowns on it."

While guests huddled around a bonfire later, she and her groom, Dennis Skitzki, were married. The ceremony was performed by a Unitarian minister, the Rev. David H. Cole.

"For some reason,
Unitarian ministers are the only ones who don't mind,"
Mrs. Skitzki said, puzzled.
"After all, we believe in God and everything, or at least in a supreme being."

The main difference between witches and other people has more to do with believing in reincarnation and the ability to "see" things than anything else, she said.
Mrs. Skitzki said her first husband was a warlock — the male counterpart of a witch.
Skitzki, on the other hand, is only an automobile
mechanic.

But "he's very sexy," Mrs.
Skitzki confided.

The bride made shirts for the groom and the minister to wear. And she wore a dress of her own making — green
wool, with lace embroidery.
"No, there's no significance in that either," she said. "I just wanted to dress up."
After the ceremony, the Skitzkis and their guests gathered around a huge whiskey crock.

"There's no significance at all in that, unless you don't like whiskey sours," she told a reporter covering the event.

"And tell your photographer we won't put a curse on him when he gets here, and he can have all the whiskey sours he wants."

Welfare Districts

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) —
Ohio Welfare Director
Charles Bates said Monday night that his agency will be ready to reorganize into 11 districts by next July 1.

Bates told the opening session of the Ohio Welfare Conference here that the department will have guidelines for its reorganization ready by spring.

The Welfare Department and three other state agencies are to reorganize into 11 service districts by mid-1974
under a plan announced earlier by Gov. John Gilligan.

Cleveland, which has the highest welfare case load in the state, will probably be divided in half, Bates said.

Other departments involved in the reorganization plan are the Department of Mental Health and Retardation, the Department of Health, and the Rehabilitation Services Commission.

Northwest Takes Brunt Of Weather

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Strong winds and thundershowers fanned out over the northwestern quarter of the nation today while most other areas enjoyed Indian summer.

Winds gusting over 50 miles per hour whipped Utah,
Wyoming and northern Colorado, and high-wind warnings were issued for northern Colorado and the western half of South Dakota for today.

Showers dampened areas from the Pacific Coast to the northern Plains, but rainfall amounts generally were less than half an inch overnight.

Gale warnings were posted along the northern Pacific Coast as a new storm system approached.

A cold front moving through Wyoming and Colorado dropped temperatures into the 30s and 40s for the 50s.

Overnight lows in the 40s and 50s were common across a broad stretch of the mid-continent after highs in the 50s and 60s Monday.

Temperatures before dawn
ranged from 30 at Minot,
N.D., to 73 at Miami.

Nixon Campaign Leader Charged

CHICAGO (AP) — The man who managed the President's 1968 campaign in Illinois has been named in a federal indictment charging him with a $1 million fraud scheme involving banks and a New York City credit union.

The 23-count indictment against William H. Rentschler, 48, was made public Monday. It charged that Rentschler fraudulently got loans from 27 banks and the Aetna Business Credit Inc. of New York City. The loans were intended for himself and corporations of which he was an officer or a stockholder, the government said. Rentschler claims he is innocent.

CARROLL RICHTER'S HOROSCOPE

from the Carroll Richter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day not to allow yourself the luxury of feeling you have been imposed upon or that persons are taking advantage of your good nature, which isn't likely to be so. Fine for work requiring application to details.

ARIES (Mar 21 to Apr 19) Be sure you don't add fuel to emotional fires apt to be burning at home today or the results could be regretted. Relax at home tonight.

TAURUS (Apr 20 to May 20) Much care in motion should be exercised today or there could be an accident. Don't argue with fellow workers. Use reasonable methods.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Use care or you could get into some financial mistake that could bring you much trouble in the near future. Cut down on expenses.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You are apt to be overly sensitive today and think others are against you. Give a helping hand to one who may be indisposed.

LEO (July 22 to Aug 21) You want to run away from duties that are yours and this could bring you much trouble later on. Avoid one who has a chip on his shoulder.

VIRGO (Aug 22 to Sept 22) Make sure that you are loyal to friends instead of criticizing them. Wait for a better time to attend a group affair.

LIBRA (Sept 23 to Oct 22) Being objective in handling a credit matter brings best results now. A civic duty can be easily postponed. Show devotion to what.

SCORPIO (Oct 23 to Nov 21) Whatever has been difficult to handle in the past can now be done easily by using more modern methods. Don't let anyone upset you.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov 22 to Dec 21) The tasks ahead of you are tedious, but use determination and they will soon be behind you. Try not to quarrel with loved one.

CAPRICORN (Dec 22 to Jan 20) Listening to what an associate has to say is fine, but don't let it bother you since it is unimportant. Sidestep one who opposes you.

AQUARIUS (Jan 21 to Feb 19) There are problems to iron out, so attend to them in true Aquarian fashion and they are soon solved. Do nothing erratic.

PISCES (Feb 20 to Mar 20) Don't be so determined to have a good time that it costs you plenty and gives you little satisfaction. Don't take any risks.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY — he or she will be one of those clever young people who would do well in business or in helping others clear up their problems. Some discipline will bring self-control and sureness needed here. The religious is very important in this chart. Music could be a very rewarding outlet.

NEW YORK (AP) — The sound of the ax continues to reverberate throughout television this month. Now it's NBC that is whacking new shows off its evening schedule. The cuts go into effect in mid-January.

The Victims are "Diana," with Diana Rigg; "Needles and Pins," a garment industry comedy; "NBC Follies," a variety show; and "Love Story," a romantic anthology series.

The ax has fallen heavily this season, and only on the new offerings. The networks have canceled a total of eight so far — one at ABC, three at CBS — and the end isn't in sight.

NBC says it will fill the slots created by its four farewell notices by rejuggling its evening schedule on week-days and installing two new offerings.

One is "NBC Wednesday Night at the Movies," a two-hour show that'll start Jan. 16 and feature made-for-TV and theatrical movies.

The other show, starting Jan. 17, is a one-hour Thursday night program whose title and contents will be announced later, according to an NBC spokesman.

A change also is afoot for viewers who now watch the old movies run late in the weekday afternoons on the CBS-owned TV stations in Los Angeles, Chicago, Philadelphia, St. Louis and here.

But they'll have to wait almost a year.

CBS says it'll crank up a new 90-minute talk-variety show on its five stations in mid-September 1974 with the show to be based and produced in Los Angeles.

It'll have a regular host and, although no one's been chosen yet, Gary Owens — the hand-to-the-ear announcer on NBC's "Laugh-In" — is one of the prospects CBS has talked to about doing the show.

Although CBS won't offer the program to CBS affiliates, "if it is successful somebody undoubtedly will acquire it from us for syndication purposes," Drew said.

He said one reason for the show, aside from diminishing movie supplies, is to offer stiffer competition to two other syndicated talk-variety shows starring Mike Douglas and Merv Griffin.

Final notice to royalty buffs: Princess Anne's wedding ceremonies will be carried live by all three networks in the East. But only NBC will show it live in the West, starting at 2 a.m. PST.

The proceedings, live and taped, start at 5 a.m. EST on CBS and NBC, and an hour later on ABC.

Glaucoma Screening Test Given to 278 Residents

The free Glaucoma Screening test held Sunday, in the Lutheran Parish House, was a success with 278 people between the ages of 16 and 96 availing themselves of the opportunity provided through the efforts of Pickaway Senior Center.

Local eye doctors who donated their time, and without whose cooperation such a screening could not be done were: Dr. David Goldschmidt, Dr. Robert Liggett and Dr. David Smith, optometrists in Circleville, and Dr. N. K. Parikh, ophthalmologist in Circleville and also Chillicothe.

Registered nurses assisting the doctors and helping with the visual acuity test (sharpness of vision) were: Sue Lewis of PICCA, Donna Carter, Wanda Matesky, Judy Smith and Mary Walters.

Others helping were: Linda Dunkle of Berger Hospital and 12 members of the Lions Club Auxiliary, Mrs. Garold Crites, Mrs. James Peters, Mrs. Mack Wise, Mrs. Gale Wolfe Sr., Mrs. Milton Griest, Mrs. Fred Howell, Mrs. Frank Woodward Jr., Mrs. Kenneth Fosnaugh, Mrs. Gerald Sims, Mrs.

Nolan Sims Jr., Mrs. Donald Flanders and Mrs. Richard Wilson.

Scott Donaldson was present, representing the Ohio Society for the Prevention of Blindness which provided technical assistance and printed literature, registration forms and assisted in the planning. Senior Center staff member, Joan Eller, Glaucoma Committee chairman, Vera Saunders, and Senior Center director, Twyla Lorentz, complete the list of those who worked to make this project a reality for the community.

Great credit for the success goes to the Circleville Herald and radio station for their cooperation in providing such good publicity, and to the village reporters for the Herald, who put up posters in their local communities, handed out information folders, and put items in their columns. Others cooperating on publicity were local business and industry who permitted posters to be put up, and in other ways assisted in spreading the word among their employees. Pastors of local churches also cooperated in various ways.

Materials used in the testing were provided by Berger Hospital, PICCA, and the Doctors, with the balance of needed items furnished by the Pickaway Senior Center.

The use of the Lutheran Parish House was donated by Trinity Lutheran Church.

Results of the testing of the 278 people were that 26 were advised to see their own eye doctor for further testing, and many others were advised to have their vision checked as the visual acuity test showed their sight was less than normal.

The Staff of Pickaway Senior Center wishes to take this opportunity to thank publicly, everyone who helped in any way. The Center is concerned with the welfare of Pickaway County people over the age of 55, but is willing to help anyone of any age if at all possible. For more information about activities, call 474-4916.

Skilled Workers At Ford Reportedly Reject Contract

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers tentative contract agreement with Ford Motor Co. is in doubt following reports the pact was rejected

by the automaker's skilled trades workers.

Sources close to the union said Monday that Ford's 28,000 tradesmen voted by a 3-1 margin against ratifying the pact, negotiated Oct. 26. They said the over-all vote, including maintenance and production workers, is very close, and could go either way.

The union originally said it would disclose results of the voting Monday, but has postponed its announcement until Wednesday. A union spokesman said ratification ballots are still being counted.

The status of the three-year contract package, covering 185,000 Ford workers, could hinge on an amendment to the UAW constitution.

The document was amended in 1966 with a provision stating that no national contract could be concluded unless a majority of the union's skilled tradesmen votes for it.

UAW president Leonard Woodcock said last week the amendment refers only to the contract's application to skilled trades workers and not to production or maintenance employees, by far the majority.

Sources said the UAW's Ford bargainers met to discuss the skilled trades reported rejection Monday. One local officer said UAW officers told him the Ford agreement "looks endangered."

Most other contract provisions parallel those accepted by Chrysler Corp. workers in September. They include a three per cent a year wage hike criticized by some Ford workers as too small, and limits on mandatory overtime criticized as too weak.

The confusion at Ford could jeopardize the UAW's attempt to settle the U.S. General Motors contract by Thanksgiving. The UAW, with 415,000 GM workers, set a Nov. 19 strike deadline to force a tentative agreement from GM.

Dillon Resigns As Columbus Hospital Chief

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Dr. Lowell Dillon, veteran Ohio mental health official, has resigned as head of the Columbus State Hospital.

Dillon, 61, said Monday he wanted to retire. His resignation is effective Dec. 31.

Dillon was twice head of the Columbus hospital, from 1957 to 1963 and from 1967 to 1973. He also was an Ohio commissioner for mental hygiene from 1963 to 1965, and was employed by the Lima State Hospital from 1942 to 1943.

Dr. Kenneth Gaver, director of the Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation, said Dillon is "a fine, honored, distinguished senior member of the fraternity. He has served honorably and well."

The program, dedicating the post to Colonel Fred Moritz, will be held in conjunction with the Patrol's 40th Anniversary 3:30 p.m. Sunday.

Colonel Fred Moritz, a lifelong resident of the central Ohio area, was appointed the Patrol's first Assistant Superintendent in 1933. He served in that capacity until his appointment to Superintendent in 1957.

The Circleville Post will be dedicated as the "Colonel Fred Moritz Memorial Post".

Local eye doctors who donated their time, and without whose cooperation such a screening could not be done were: Dr. David Goldschmidt, Dr. Robert Liggett and Dr. David Smith, optometrists in Circleville, and Dr. N. K. Parikh, ophthalmologist in Circleville and also Chillicothe.

Registered nurses assisting the doctors and helping with the visual acuity test (sharpness of vision) were: Sue Lewis of PICCA, Donna Carter, Wanda Matesky, Judy Smith and Mary Walters.

Others helping were: Linda Dunkle of Berger Hospital and 12 members of the Lions Club Auxiliary, Mrs. Garold Crites, Mrs. James Peters, Mrs. Mack Wise, Mrs. Gale Wolfe Sr., Mrs. Milton Griest, Mrs. Fred Howell, Mrs. Frank Woodward Jr., Mrs. Kenneth Fosnaugh, Mrs. Gerald Sims, Mrs.

Nolan Sims Jr., Mrs. Donald Flanders and Mrs. Richard Wilson.

Scott Donaldson was present, representing the Ohio Society for the Prevention of Blindness which provided technical assistance and printed literature, registration forms and assisted in the planning. Senior Center staff member, Joan Eller, Glaucoma Committee chairman, Vera Saunders, and Senior Center director, Twyla Lorentz, complete the list of those who worked to make this project a reality for the community.

Great credit for the success goes to the Circleville Herald and radio station for their cooperation in providing such good publicity, and to the village reporters for the Herald, who put up posters in their local communities, handed out information folders, and put items in their columns. Others cooperating on publicity were local business and industry who permitted posters to be put up, and in other ways assisted in spreading the word among their employees. Pastors of local churches also cooperated in various ways.

Materials used in the testing were provided by Berger Hospital, PICCA, and the Doctors, with the balance of needed items furnished by the Pickaway Senior Center.

The use of the Lutheran Parish House was donated by Trinity Lutheran Church.

Results of the testing of the 278 people were that 26 were advised to see their own eye doctor for further testing, and many others were advised to have their vision checked as the visual acuity test showed their sight was less than normal.

The Staff of Pickaway Senior Center wishes to take this opportunity to thank publicly, everyone who helped in any way. The Center is concerned with the welfare of Pickaway County people over the age of 55, but is willing to help anyone of any age if at all possible. Skilled Workers At Ford Reportedly Reject Contract by the automaker's skilled trades workers.

Sources close to the union said Monday that Ford's 28,000 tradesmen voted by a 3-1 margin against ratifying the pact, negotiated Oct. 26. They said the over-all vote, including maintenance and production workers, is very close, and could go either way.

The union originally said it would disclose results of the voting Monday, but has postponed its announcement until Wednesday. A union spokesman said ratification ballots are still being counted.

The status of the three-year contract package, covering 185,000 Ford workers, could hinge on an amendment to the UAW constitution.

The document was amended in 1966 with a provision stating that no national contract could be concluded unless a majority of the union's skilled tradesmen votes for it.

UAW president Leonard Woodcock said last week the amendment refers only to the contract's application to skilled trades workers and not to production or maintenance employees, by far the majority.

Sources said the UAW's Ford bargainers met to discuss the skilled trades reported rejection Monday. One local officer said UAW officers told him the Ford agreement "looks endangered."

Most other contract provisions parallel those accepted by Chrysler Corp. workers in September. They include a three per cent a year wage hike criticized by some Ford workers as too small, and limits on mandatory overtime criticized as too weak.

The confusion at Ford could jeopardize the UAW's attempt to settle the U.S. General Motors contract by Thanksgiving. The UAW, with 415,000 GM workers, set a Nov. 19 strike deadline to force a tentative agreement from GM.
